Nixon Pledges To Push Talks On A-Test Ban

Would Be Willing To Meet With "K" If Progress Made

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday night he would be willing to attend a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev early next year if it would produce an enforceable agreement to end atomic testing.

The Republican presidential candidate said that if elected, he would move the next day to try to break the two-year stalemate with the Soviet Union over a nuclear test-ban agreement.

He said there is some reason to believe the Soviet Union might be conducting secret tests in violation of the moratorium.

"If I am elected, I will on Nov. 9 ask the President to designate Ambassador (Henry Cabot) Lodge to go to Geneva personally to participate in the present negotiations with a view to resolving this question by Feb. 1," Nixon said in a speech.

"There is no conceivable, no honest, reason why this cannot be accomplished if the Soviets have any intention of ever coming to an agreement. . . .

"I would have Mr. Khrushchev know that if Ambassador Lodge and the Soviet negotiator are able to bring an agreement in sight in this 90-day period, I would be prepared to meet with Prime Minister (Harold) Macmillan and the question to be—will Mr. Khrushchev make the final agreement at the summit.

Would Set Deadline

"But I would have him understand that, if at the end of the 90-day period—by Feb. 1—there is no progress, the United States will be prepared to detonate atomic devices necessary to advance our peaceful technology."

As for nuclear weapons tests, Nixon said he would let Khrushchev know that the United States is willing to continue present test-ban talks as long as the Soviet representatives will sit, but "not under an unqualified moratorium of indefinite duration."

Nixon selected a Toledo meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, to make his major speech on nuclear testing. The engagement was not listed on the schedule.

The vice president wound up his Buckley State campaigning in Toledo after a day of train touring across the state in which he was greeted by good crowds despite dripping skies.

His enthusiasm reached a high pitch before his biggest crowd, an estimated total of 50,000 outside the Statehouse in Columbus. He told this throng he now could sense that "the campaign tide has turned and that it is moving up to victory."

Six-Man Junta Seizes Power In El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A six-man junta seized power Wednesday from President Jose Maria Lemus and sent him fleeing to neighboring Guatemala.

The capital and the hinterlands of this smallest country in the Americas were reported calm after the lightning military coup.

It followed weeks of student demonstrations against Salvadoran social and economic inequalities. Lemus retaliated with a police crackdown. The Salvador University faculty accused the police of brutality and shut down the school for a time.

Lemus, a lieutenant colonel in the army, went to Guatemala accompanied by his chief aide, Maj. Adolfo Rubio Melhado, secretary to the presidency.

The junta that seized control is composed of three civilians and three military men. Some elements of the military were believed alarmed at the extent of Lemus' measures to stop agitation, which he blamed on Communists.

A report to the Inter-American Press Association this month said Lemus had prohibited the local press from reporting the disturbances.

The junta moved against Lemus at 2 a.m.

The military members are Col. Miguel Angel Castillo, former director of the General Telegraph Service; Col. Jesus Yanez Urias; and Maj. Alonso Rosales.

The civilians are Fabio Castillo Figueroa, Rene Fortin Magana and Ricardo Falla Caceres.

Informed sources said the junta was expected to issue a decree dissolving Congress, the Supreme Court, and outline its reasons for overthrowing Lemus, whose term was not scheduled to expire until Sept. 14, 1962.

Kennedy Gets Big Welcome In Motor City

Declares Economy Is Slipping Along With U.S. Prestige

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Detroit gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a roaring, riotous welcome Wednesday as the Democratic presidential candidate arrived, still demanding that Vice President Richard M. Nixon release the findings in a survey that purportedly shows the prestige of the United States has declined.

He combined in speeches and extemporaneous talks assertions that the economy is slipping along with American prestige.

Kennedy spoke to crowds ranging from 6,000 to 15,000 in shopping centers and other outdoor points. His admirers thronged the approximately 35-mile route that his motorcade took, standing in pelting rain and chilly winds.

Thousands more clustered together along the highways where he could not stop.

Reaching Campus Martius in downtown Detroit he found a crowd of 12,000 shouting, exuberant admirers jamming the streets leading to his hotel.

Political Coverup Charged

Kennedy, despite administration refusals to release the findings in a U.S. Information Agency report, demanded that it be made public. He has charged that the report is being concealed in order to protect Nixon. The vice president contends that, contrary to the secret survey, American prestige is at "an all-time high."

In Washington, the White House announced Wednesday that the Eisenhower administration had sealed the report from public view.

President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said the document is classified as secret. Hagerty also said that the President disagrees sharply with Kennedy's position that the United States prestige has ebbed.

Carrying this charge into Detroit, Kennedy said in a speech prepared for delivery at the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum: "While the decline in our prestige caused more of those interviewed to give the Soviet Union an edge in power today, they agreed with disturbing unanimity that the Soviet Union would be the most powerful nation on earth in 1970."

Soldiers Acts Unauthorized

Mobutu and Bomboko told Rajeshwar Dayal of India, the U.N. mission chief, and the U.N. force commander, Gen. Carl von Horn, that the soldiers had committed arbitrary acts without authorization. Some of these were committed by illegal organizations, they said.

The Mobutu troops—wild, uncontrolled and often drunk—have been robbing and beating frightened civilians. The only orders they had were to make searches where necessary and to seize arms, the two Congo leaders said.

Nobel Prize Won By French Poet

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Nobel Prize for literature was awarded Wednesday to Saint-John Perse, a French poet whose life has mixed diplomacy and modern poetry.

The 18-member Swedish Academy of Letters picked Perse for the $43,627 prize, from a fund established by the inventor of dynamite, for poetry which "in a visionary fashion reflects the conditions of our time."

Perse, now 73 and a resident of Washington, D. C., "is a poet with a message of immediate interest to his contemporaries," said the academy.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, a member of the academy and a student of modern poetry, reportedly had suggested Perse for the award. Hammarskjold was not present today for the balloting.

Nixon Campaign Director Charges 'Pearson Smear'

(Drew Pearson's dispatch referred to in the following story appears on page 13 of today's Cumberland News)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert N. Finch, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign director, described Wednesday as "absolute nonsense" a dispatch saying that industrialist Howard Hughes had received government favors after making a loan to Nixon's brother.

His comment referred to a dispatch by columnist Drew Pearson, who said Hughes put up $205,000 for a loan to the vice president's brother, Don.

Finch said only Don Nixon could explain the details of the transaction but that the Pearson dispatch contained "many false allegations."

"The story alleges that a loan whether other persons were involved was made to Don Nixon and that,

Reporter Sentenced To Jail For Contempt

DENVER (UPI) — Reporter V. Murphy, 35, of the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, was found guilty of criminal contempt by the Colorado Supreme Court Wednesday for refusing to divulge the source of a news story. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Mrs. Murphy, as she did before on Sept. 23, based her refusal on the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which guarantees freedom of the press.

She told the court her refusal was a matter of "personal integrity," but that she had been given permission by her publisher, Harry Holmes, "to protect my news sources."

'Easier Money' Actions Taken By Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board cleared the way Wednesday for pumping $3.1 billion in additional cash and credit into the U.S. economy during the Christmas shopping season.

The board announced it will take three technical actions—two on Nov. 24 and one on Dec. 1—which will allow the nation's banks to circulate $1 billion additional in currency and boost their lending power by $2.1 billion.

A board statement emphasized that the steps would be taken "between Thanksgiving and Christmas, the peak season of rising cash and credit need."

A spokesman for the board declined to characterize the moves as an antirecession program. He also sidestepped questions about the board's view of the business outlook.

In response to a series of questions from newsmen, he kept repeating, "The board intends to make ample provision for the credit needs of the Christmas buying season."

He added that the three steps might not go far enough to meet the seasonal demand for money and credit. If not, he promised, the board would take whatever additional actions might be necessary.

The spokesman also said the moves are intended to carry out a 1959 law relating to bank reserves.

In recent months the board has made a series of moves to loosen credit. It has said these were made possible by a lessening of inflationary pressures. At the same time, the actions coincided with a slackening in the economy.

The board said it will take the following actions:

1. On Nov. 24, the 6,200 banks in the Federal Reserve System will be authorized to count all the cash in their vaults in meeting their reserve requirements. The use of vault cash to meet Reserve requirements was authorized under the 1959 law and the Reserve Board acted earlier to free some of this cash.
2. Also on Nov. 24, the member banks in smaller communities, called "country banks," will be required to hold reserves equal to 12 per cent of their checking account deposits. They now have an 11 per cent Reserve requirement. The use of vault cash, for Reserve requirements will more than offset this rise.
3. On Dec. 1, the Reserve requirements of "central Reserve city banks" — the big banks in New York and Chicago — will be reduced to 16½ per cent from 17½ per cent.

Navy Flier Dies, Another Injured In Crash Of Jet

AQUASCO, Md. (AP) — One of two occupants of a Navy jet trainer was killed Wednesday when he apparently ejected at a low altitude as the plane plunged to a crash in a wooded area near this Prince Georges County community.

The other, Lt. Robert Lindsay, 31, Hillcrest Heights, Washington, rode the plane to the ground and escaped with no injuries.

The Navy identified the dead flier as Lt. Horace John Terrill, 27, of Washington.

Discoverer XVI Fails To Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force lofted skyward Wednesday a new and bigger satellite vehicle, expected to become a workhorse of the space program. But something went wrong, and instead of roaring into orbit, it plunged into the Pacific.

Apparently, a spokesman said, the towering rocket's first and second stages failed to separate. Thus the second-stage engine never fired. Its kick is supposed to push the moonlet into orbit.

The second stage was the new feature of this, the 16th shot of the marathon Discoverer satellite series.

Called Agena B, it succeeds the smaller Agena A, used in many past space efforts.

The B model is roomy enough to carry monkeys into space or to house the complicated instruments of future sky-spy and detection satellites. They claim it's maneuverable, so it can take evasive action if threatened by hostile missiles or satellites.

Discoverer XVI blasted off from this West Coast space center, the first-stage Thor appeared to perform perfectly.

The particular malfunction that prevented separation? The Air Force says that could take days to learn.

Nation's Living Costs Advance To Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's living costs edged up to a record peak in September. Clothing prices broke a 40-year record. The government's consumers price index rose to 126.8 per cent of the 1947-49 cost level. This means it takes more than $1.26 to buy what $1 would bring a dozen years ago.

September prices averaged two-tenths of one per cent higher than in August, and 1.3 per cent higher than a year earlier. Living costs, which had leveled off in August after climbing to highs five months in a row, appeared to have resumed their gradual upward trend.

The Labor Department said living costs have risen only one-fifth as fast under President Eisenhower's administration as they did under former President Harry S. Truman's years in the White House.

Goods shortages due to World War II and the Korean fighting were a big factor in inflation under Truman.

The figures show a living-cost rise of nearly 50 per cent during Truman's two terms, or about five-tenths of one per cent a month. This compares with an increase of a bit over 11 per cent during Eisenhower's two terms, or about one-tenth of one per cent a month.

Store prices for clothing rose seasonally last month by 1.2 per cent to eclipse for the first time the record set in June 1920, when pent-up demand following World War I sent apparel prices soaring.

Court Rules King Must Serve Four-Month Term

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, was denied freedom Wednesday from a four-month prison term imposed as an indirect result of sit-in demonstrations in nearby Atlanta.

The denial came in a court session that was delayed temporarily by an anonymous telephone threat to bomb the courtroom. More than 100 white and Negro spectators were evacuated from the court, and the hearing was transferred to another room as a precaution against possible violence.

As an added safeguard, admission was limited to attorneys, accredited newsmen and persons approved by opposing counsel.

Judge Oscar Mitchell of DeKalb County Criminal Court ruled that King must serve four months of a 12-month suspended sentence, received last month on a charge of driving without a Georgia driver's license.

Probation of part of the term which King received on the traffic charge was revoked because King allegedly had violated the state's new antirest law by taking part in the demonstrations last week.

Mitchell set a hearing for Thursday on a bill of exceptions which defense lawyers announced they will file in a move to take the case to a higher court.

The telephoned threats were received shortly before King's attorneys went into court seeking his release from what they termed an illegal action Tuesday in revoking part of his suspended sentence.

Mitchell in his ruling said he found no merit in their appeal from the revocation.

White House Says Report Stays Sealed

Kennedy Renews Demands Survey Be Made Public

By The Associated Press

The campaign row between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy over the status of American prestige abroad boiled into a feverish dispute Wednesday.

The running argument between the two presidential candidates was heightened by White House refusal to make public secret government papers on the subject as Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, keeps demanding.

Carrying his campaigning from Illinois into Michigan—two crucial states—Kennedy insisted time after time that the report be released. He said the report had been suppressed to protect Nixon's claim that American prestige is at an all-time high.

"I call upon Mr. Nixon to make the secret report public and to explain to the people how in the face of its evidence he can continue to pretend that our prestige is at an all-time high," Kennedy said.

His Republican opponent, Nixon, whistle-stopped through Ohio, accusing the Democrats of using discreditable and irresponsible tactics by what he termed downgrading American prestige all over the world. Apparently, he said, they have seized on this theme because "they are running out of issues with nothing else to talk about."

"Sorry Spectacle"

In one speech Nixon said it is "one of the sorriest spectacles in the history of American politics when a man tries to get elected president of the United States by running down the United States all over the world."

He said the Soviet newspaper Pravda is quoting Democratic leaders about lowered American prestige.

"It just isn't true," Nixon added. "We're the world's strongest nation. We're first in science. Government officials have never openly acknowledged that the disputed study prepared by the U.S. Information Agency deals with American prestige, but they left no doubt that it does."

Published and broadcast reports have said the survey reflects strong belief in 10 friendly countries of Europe and Asia that the Soviet Union is leading as a military power and may pull farther ahead in the next 10 years.

Nixon has said he has no objection to the reports being made public.

'Low-Level Staff Paper'

But at the White House James C. Hagerty, press secretary, told inquiring newsmen the report is classified secret. He said it is "an internal, low-level staff paper" similar to many others Hagerty said are prepared from time to time in the U.S.A.

This decision to withhold the paper, he said, was done "under policies approved by President Eisenhower pertaining to internal working papers of the executive branch of the government."

At the same time Hagerty stressed that Eisenhower disagrees sharply with Kennedy's position that U.S. prestige has shrunk.

The White House action was criticized by Chairman John E. Moss, D. Calif., of the House Government Information subcommittee, who has been pressing for release of the report.

"For the White House and Nixon to join in a conspiracy to keep these facts from the American people while at the same time claiming the opposite to be true," Moss said, "is political irresponsibility that threatens the security of our nation and of the free world."

Fulbright Says Chiang Withdrawal Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright said Wednesday secret testimony by administration officials proves that this country has sought withdrawal of some Nationalist Chinese troops from Quemoy and Matsu.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a news conference that if Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, persisted in making a campaign issue out of the Nationalist-held offshore islands, he would seek to have the testimony—given in secret to the committee—made public.

The Arkansas Democrat charged Nixon was engaging in an effort to make Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, appear "soft on communism."

Legislative Council Approves Seven Changes In State Jobless Pay Laws

BALTIMORE (AP)—Seven changes in Maryland's unemployment compensation laws, including increasing the maximum weekly benefit from $35 to $38, were approved Wednesday by the Legislative Council.

The council accepted the recommendations of its Judiciary Committee and the changes will be introduced at the next session of the legislature starting in January.

The council also adopted a report from its special fiscal committee to increase state distribution of money to local subdivisions by $13 million.

A revised formula on education and welfare programs would take an additional $8,300,000 from general tax funds. Another $5 million would be raised by making the six-cent tax on cigarettes uniform throughout the state with half of the levy being returned to the subdivisions.

The Judiciary Committee proposed changes in the jobless pay regulations after holding seven meetings, including three public hearings in various parts of the state, since June 29.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, the chairman, said the cost of increasing the maximum weekly benefits would be offset by savings in the other changes.

Employers are taxed for all the benefits paid workers who lose their jobs.

The other proposed changes would:

Close a technical loophole by which workers might collect the full 26 weeks of compensation twice.

Disqualify pregnant women from benefits from the date of pregnancy until two months after child birth.

Refuse benefits to persons who voluntarily quit, are fired for misconduct or turn down other suitable work. These workers now receive benefits after a waiting period.

Provide a one-week waiting period before payment of benefits.

Allow benefits for dependent children only if the claimant is providing chief support.

Adjust benefits according to pensions and social security received by the claimant.

Religion Issue Debate Sought By Md. Group

By The Associated Press

The Maryland Committee for Fair Play has proposed a national television debate on the religious issue in the current presidential campaign.

Louis E. Schecter, chairman of the group which includes leading figures throughout Maryland, said the committee was prepared to argue the affirmative side of this topic: "The Religious Issue Does Not Belong in This Presidential Campaign."

In a letter addressed to Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., Schecter proposed the Maryland committee meet representatives of the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

Schecter asked Sarnoff to "consult with other networks" on the possibility of such a meeting.

He asked how this era could be enlightened "if men of good will failed to speak up in favor of the guarantee of the American Constitution which specifies that 'no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office.'"

He added: "Maryland has a rich heritage as a state that has always stood for religious freedom since the early colonial days. It is entirely appropriate that a Maryland committee should spell out to the nation how unfair it is to exploit the religious issue in a political campaign."

Schecter said the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom had "raised the question whether a Catholic president would be subject to pressure of the Catholic hierarchy."

Pennsy Reports $4 Million Deficit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Wednesday night reported a deficit of $4,456,300 for September and said it reflected the impact of the shopcraft employees' strike and its consequences. The strike lasted through the first 12 days of the month.

The railroad said the figure compares with a deficit of $2,281,800 for September a year ago when the steel strike was on.

For the first nine months of the year the PRR reported a deficit of $9,360,400, compared with a deficit of $449,300 for the same period last year. Nine-month revenues were $640,325,900 in 1960, compared with $666,049,500 in 1959.

Blast In Which 10 Died Probed

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—Ontario provincial authorities Wednesday launched a three-way investigation of a downtown department store explosion that killed 10 persons and injured nearly 100.

Rescue workers were still digging their way through the ruins of the Metropolitan Department Store in search of the last two victims as officials of the Ontario Energy Board, the Department of Labor and the Attorney General's Office began their investigations.

Local authorities blamed the blast, that sent glass and debris flying for blocks and left the street outside the store soaked with the blood of the injured, on gas leaking from a newly installed gas heating system.

The bodies of seven women were pulled from the ruins after the explosion Tuesday and another woman died seven hours after the blast from injuries.

The rescue crews late Wednesday afternoon located and removed from the rubble the body of John Lepcan, 54, a lunch counter clerk in the store. Still missing and presumed dead was Joseph Bohdal, 51, manager of the lunch counter.

Police said there were no other persons known to be missing.

Missing Boy, 8, Found Asleep In Pup Tent

FERNDAL, Md. (AP)—More than 60 neighbors, police and volunteer firemen launched an area-wide search for an 8-year-old Belvedere Heights boy, only to find him three hours later a block from his home.

At 3 a. m. Wednesday about 12 hours after he disappeared, Donald A. Smit was found asleep and snuggled warmly in a pup tent in the back yard of a neighborhood home.

His worried parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smit, said young Donald is no stranger to pup tents. He is a Cub Scout.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The Board of Regents of the University of Maryland will present their distinguished service awards to seven persons at a special convocation Friday.

Receiving the citations will be Jacob Blaustein of Pikesville, E. Brooke Lee of Damascus, Mrs. Elsie Biglow Barber of Davidsonville, Dr. Frank Marino of Baltimore, Arthur A. Houghton Jr. of New York, Munro Leaf of Andover, Mass., and O.H. Saunders of Washington, D.C.

Some 400 university students also will be cited during the convocation. Each student will receive a certificate for outstanding academic achievement.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president.

Blaustein is the founder of the American Oil Co. and has been active in national and international affairs. Lee, a former Army colonel, raises beef cattle and served on several State agencies.

Mrs. Barber was the first woman elected to the Maryland House of Delegates and has been active in several Maryland women's clubs. Dr. Marino, a native of Italy, has served on various Baltimore City agencies, and is president of the Park Board.

Houghton is director of the Corning Glass Works, president of the Steuben Glass Co. and a director of U.S. Steel Co. and the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad. He also has been a leader in the field of fine art and education.

Leaf, a native of Hamilton, Md., is the author and illustrator of a number of children's books.

Saunders, a retired Army colonel, has been an active university alumnus, serving as president of both the College of Engineering Alumni Club and the university's Alumni Council.

German Troops In France

PARIS (AP)—German soldiers tacked France in 1870, 1914 and rolled into France again—not as 1940.

Anticipating French resentment, West German officers sternly ordered their men to be on their best behavior.

Advance detachments of panzer and parachute troop battalions from the West German army Wednesday headed for French bases at the old battle grounds of Sissonne and Mourmelon, flanking the cathedral town of Reims.

France agreed to allow West German soldiers to train here because the growing German army, a keystone of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is cramped on its home grounds.

Early this year, West Germany attempted to obtain training and storage facilities in Spain, but memories of the Nazi-Fascist ties during World War II caused such a cry in Western Europe that Bonn dropped the idea.

France later stepped in as one of several NATO powers offering such facilities. A Paris-Bonn agreement was signed Tuesday night.

The Germans got the go-ahead signal within hours, to forestall any criticism arising out of the average Frenchman's bitter memories of German armies that at-

Road Gang Escapee Will Remain Free

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A one-armed Negro who escaped from a North Carolina prison road gang 25 years ago will not be returned to serve the remainder of his six-month sentence.

Robert Giles, administrative assistant to Gov. Luther Hodges, said Wednesday the governor had decided to drop extradition proceedings against Roland Belton, 60, and to commute Belton's sentence to time already served. He said the action was taken because of Belton's good behavior in the years he has been free.

Belton escaped from a road gang in 1935 while serving a sentence for assaulting his wife. The state instituted extradition proceedings after Belton was discovered in Baltimore. Fingerprints taken when Belton applied for a pushcart license in Baltimore resulted in his identity being revealed.

No Part-Time Jobs For Police, Firemen

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police and fire department officials Wednesday turned down requests to permit employees to obtain part-time jobs.

Police Commissioner James M. Hepburn and the city's Fire Board said a ban on part-time jobs is sound and that the nature of work in those departments demands all of an employee's "time and undivided energies."

The decision to retain present rules stemmed from a letter by attorney Stanley Scherr seeking approval for members of departments to supplement their city wages with outside employment.

B&O To Fix Crossing At Frederick St.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has secured a permit for improving the Frederick Street crossing, the city engineer's office reports.

The work will entail the replacement of rails and ties, it is understood, with the project expected to start on the first of next week.

The rail firm informed city authorities that only half of the crossing will be closed while the work is being done, so as not to interfere with the flow of traffic.

City officials also have been advised that an investigation of a crossing blockage has been completed by B&O authorities.

The Baltimore, Union and Harrison streets crossings were blocked for 46 minutes early on the morning of October 17, according to a report to city authorities by Lt. W. E. Shank of the City Police Department.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming asked for the investigation after being informed by Lt. Shank that H. D. Keesecker, chief train dispatcher, and E. C. Cole, yardmaster, said they were not aware they were to notify city authorities in the event of any extended crossing blockage.

R. J. Cannon, superintendent of the C&O's Cumberland Division, said he has since instructed the yardmaster and chief dispatcher to notify city officials in the event of such blockages in the future.

In a letter to Commissioner Fleming, Cannon said:

"It is not to our liking to cause unnecessary delays to vehicular traffic, and I have again notified personnel concerned to notify the Police Department when crossings are being blocked."

Commissioner Fleming said the primary reason for notification is not to cause unnecessary delays in the event of fire calls, and also to re-route traffic around the blocked areas.

To Hold Dance

The Sunday School of St. Philip's Episcopal Church will hold a public dance for children up to 13 years of age on Friday from 7:30 to 9:45 p. m. The dance will be held in the parish hall and refreshments will be sold.

Police Dog Showing Set Saturday

The Cumberland Police Department will present a public demonstration of the work of the Canine (K-9) Corps in connection with police work at 3 p. m. Saturday in the Fort Hill stadium.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming said arrangements for the demonstration have been made with the Baltimore City Police Department, which has had a K-9 Corps since early in 1957.

Commissioner Fleming said he has been interested in observing the police dogs at work, particularly since the outbreak of home entries in the Mapleside-Hill Top Drive region.

The breaking and enterings have declined in recent months, the commissioner noted, adding that he feels this is due to a concentrated patrol of the region.

However, Commissioner Fleming continued, the additional men placed in the area are needed for patrolling in other sections of town and creates a hardship on the officers since the work must be "doubled up" in such instances.

Lt. John L. Biemiller, commanding officer of the Baltimore City K-9 Corps, has informed the commissioner that Sgt. Irvin Manders and "Victor" will put on the demonstration here Saturday.

Commissioner Fleming said persons interested in viewing the demonstration will be admitted to the concrete seats at the stadium, and warns that no person will be allowed on the field during the demonstration.

Participating in the demonstration with Sgt. Manders and "Victor" will be Daniel H. Burkhardt, adjutant of the Maryland Department, American Legion, who has been interested in the police dog work in Baltimore, and who has participated in other demonstrations.

Bids Sought For Science Lab At FSTC

Bids are due November 3 for remodeling a science classroom in the old Laboratory School at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Announcement was made today by the Maryland Department of Public Improvements, Baltimore; R. Bower Hardesty, college president and James Read, who has charge of school plant buildings for the State Board of Education.

In a phone conversation with Hardesty, Read said the bids are for a science laboratory only. Remodeling of five other rooms in the school, now known as Allegacy Hall, will take place next summer.

Both said they "have no idea what the amount of the successful bid will be."

The last Legislature appropriated $35,000 for remodeling the entire Frostburg school. However, only the laboratory will be considered at this time due to the present need of the five others as classrooms.

The new laboratory will include stations for 24 science students, as well as a demonstration room at the head of the room for the instructor.

Fort Hill Tri-Hi-Y Unit Schedules Activities

The Alpha Beta Tri-Hi-Y of Fort Hill High School has organized for the current school year and scheduled a number of activities.

One of the main projects is a "Powder-Puff" football game to be jointly sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y on November 18 at the school.

The Tri-Hi-Y will also sell peanuts, Fort Hill pins and other items during the school year.

Members of the executive committee have sold Fort Hill combs and pens this year. This money was used to pay for the expense of sending officers to officers training camp at Pleasant Valley on September 10 and 11. Thirty-three Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y students attended the camp.

Two Fort Hill girls were elected to county office. They are Carol Murray, co-vice president, and Peggy Groves, secretary.

At the beginning of the school term, Miss Lillian Myers was elected as the new advisor of the Alpha Beta Tri-Hi-Y. Miss Myers was formerly an advisor to a Fort Hill Tri-Hi-Y group.

At a regular Alpha Beta meeting Mrs. Grace Light, a registered nurse from Memorial Hospital, was the speaker. Mrs. Light spoke on nursing, and after her talk she answered questions asked by members of the club.

Yvonne Stutzman was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange church services to be attended by members of the club.

Card Party Today

A card party for the benefit of the Ridgeley School Band will be held today at 8 p. m. at the meeting room of the Ridgeley Fire Company. Members of the band will conduct a house-to-house candy-sale next week, with proceeds going to the band fund.

Charlynn Hyde, publicity. Carol Murray is chairman of the executive committee. Peggy Groves, program committee. Bobbie Hinkle, finance committee, and Vada Thomas, devotion committee.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

When Should You Take Medicine?

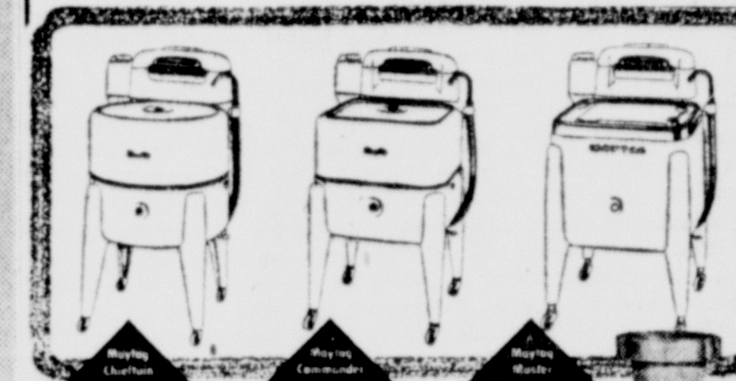

Does it make any difference whether you take your medicine at bedtime, before or after meals, or at specified times? Yes, sometimes it does. Certain drugs may irritate the stomach lining unless taken right after meals. Others may be prescribed to relax the stomach before eating. As a general rule, drugs are absorbed more rapidly on an empty stomach, more slowly after eating. Some drugs are designed to dissolve in the stomach, or small intestine, or large bowel, and some have built in mechanism for slow release. Oral penicillin must be taken on an empty stomach to be effective at all. So follow the directions on the label of your prescription. When your prescription comes from Walsh-McCagh, extra care is taken to make these important directions clear and precise. If there is any area for misunderstanding, your Walsh-McCagh pharmacist will make sure you thoroughly understand how to get the best effect from your prescription before you leave the store. This is just one of the "extras" that make Walsh-McCagh "Maryland's Leading Prescription Store."

Brushing brings out the beauty of a permanent.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Bring Out Your Hair's Beauty—With A Brush!

One of the most foolish fears first. Use your brush to see how some girls have is believing the old wife's tale about not brushing the hair after it is set. They think it ruins the "set" or harms a permanent wave. Actually, just the opposite is true. It will improve the hair and make it look more natural and softened.

All good hairdressers brush the hair thoroughly as soon as they remove the pins. Proper brushing encourages a "set" into tractability—and it will last longer. Most hairdressers arrange a fresh hairdo with a brush rather than a comb.

Brushing helps you to find your natural waves. If you don't brush the hair every day, the neglected wave set will begin to look like a wig and lose all its luster and vitality. You have to "baby" it along if you want a silken texture rather than the dried-out look that some permanents have.

If you're thinking of giving yourself a home permanent here is a suggestion about pre-permanent activities. Experiment with several of the new hair styles

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Many people write to complain about a mother-in-law. This will be a switch. My mother-in-law is a gem. It's my MOTHER who is driving me nuts.

She simply can't accept the idea that I am a married man with a wife and family. She phones me at business several times a day, comes down to the store, brings food, and sits around and talks to me when I should be working.

She asks me to drive her all over town and do her errands. I have two brothers but they were smart. They moved out of the state. My wife is very sweet about it. She never says a word, but I can't take it much longer. What can I do, short of spelling it out in the King's English? — SONNY BOY

DEAR SONNY BOY: Your signature brought to mind some wonderful old lyrics, "Climb upon my knee, Sonny Boy, though you're only three, Sonny Boy. . . ."

I take it you're more than three. Sonny Boy — so climb down off her knee and issue a declaration of independence.

Go over all the areas of irritation with your mother and get everything out in the open. Under-ground hostilities are ulcer material. The time is NOW! ! !

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 11 years old. I have a girl friend who is 12 years old. Whenever we go shopping together she steals something from the counter of a store. It's never anything big, just things like a hairnet, or a handkerchief, or a package of hobby pins.

She doesn't know that I know. Shall I tell her that she had better stop now before she starts to steal bigger things and gets caught at it?

Please print your advice. I wouldn't want a letter coming to my house with Ann Landers' name on the envelope. Thank you. — A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: There are no letters with Ann Landers' name on the envelope. All letters from me are sent in plain envelopes.

I suggest you tell your mother about your friend. Your mother should then have a private conversation with the girl's mother. The mother, in turn, should discuss it with a specialist who deals in problem children. Kids who steal do so for a reason. The girl needs help.

DEAR ANN: How can I protect myself against an overly-friendly relative who insists on bringing over fruit, vegetables, flowers, baked goods — anything, just so

The bidding:

Opening lead: Six of ♥

In today's hand, East's shift was more than a mere guess. He carefully considered the probabilities in selecting the suit to attack, and his choice of the card to lead was especially noteworthy.

West opened the six of heart's against three no trump contract, and declarer won East's nine spot with the king. South then finessed the ten of clubs losing to East's king. It was quite evident that to return a heart was futile as declarer was clearly marked with the queen. If that were not the case, West would have held Q-J-10, in which case he would have opened the queen rather than the six. That left a choice between a shift to diamonds or spades.

For the spade shift to be right, West's holding would have to be either ace, king and another, or ace, queen, and another. This was not likely for it would not leave South with enough points in the other suits for his one no trump bid. East, therefore decided to shift to diamonds, as the one hope of collecting enough tricks to beat the contract.

His choice of cards was delicate, indeed. He returned the ten of diamonds, which compelled declarer to cover with the queen. East won the return of a low diamond with the king and then played the three. West's J-7 of diamonds was a tenace over South's 8-5 and provided the setting tricks.

It will be observed that if East selects any diamond other than the ten, South will win the hand. If the shift be to the king, then

South will cover the ten and the eight will stop the suit. If the shift is to the trey, South can duck and West will win with the jack. He will presumably lead back a low diamond which East will win with the king but, when the ten is returned, South will cover with the queen to establish the eight of diamonds as a stopper.

Algonquin Players To Meet Today

A meeting of the Algonquin Players will be held today at 8 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium, the first to be conducted under the club's new slate of officers.

Mrs. Bada Mae Riley, president, said James Webster has been named chairman of a membership drive, the plans of which will be aired at today's meeting. Other projects for the coming year will be discussed.

Following the business session, a program will be presented at the club's workshop on North Centre Street. Refreshments will be served.

The Players currently are working on the twelfth production to be presented by the organization. The play is a comedy, "The Great Big Doorstep," will be presented December 14-15 at the Maryland Theatre, Mrs. Riley said.

No Settlement Signs

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—The 26-day old strike of Anaconda copper miners at the Chuquibambilla mine has cost the nation 25,000 tons of refined copper.

The 7,000 strikers reduced their demands for wage increases from 70 to 25 per cent over the week end, but there were no signs of an early settlement.

Boy, 11, Killed By B&O Train

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Paul M. Grant, 11, of Rockville, was fatally injured late Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad passenger train at the Halpine crossing here.

Montgomery County police said the boy was struck while walking along the tracks with two companions, Tom Chisholm and George Keech, both 15, of Rockville.

The other youths told police they were on the way home from a sandwich shop when Grant went back along the tracks to watch a westbound train. He was struck by an eastbound train.

The victim, son of Mrs. Margaret Frances Grant, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Frank Broschart, county medical examiner.

Earl Keyser of Cumberland was the engineer of the train.

Finds Animal Remains

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Salesman Abraham Dib returned from a fishing trip on the Patagonian Coast with a tale that topped all local fish stories by several feet. Dib found the petrified remains of a prehistoric animal 40 feet long in a cave. He brought some of the bones here for examination by scientists. The animal may have weighed as much as four tons.

Youths Guilty In Beer Theft

Two local youths who were arrested Tuesday in connection with the theft of beer from a truck were fined $15 each and given suspended 30-day sentences yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court.

The youths, James Linn, 18, of 477 Goethe Street, and Jerry A. Rice, 17, of 120 Monroe Street, were found guilty of taking beer valued at $26.97 from a tractor-trailer of the J. I. Mattingly and Brothers Wholesale House on Frederick Street.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt fined each youth $15 and gave both youths 30-day suspended terms in the County Jail. He also ordered the youths to make restitution of $9.78 for several bottles of beer and two locks which were broken on the truck. City Police arrested the two youths Tuesday and most of the beer was recovered.

Equity Suit Filed

Julia E. Myers yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Herbert F. Myers.

School Leaders

Two other teachers colleges under the control of the State Board of Education.

The group protested further because teacher education, the basic purpose of the existing teacher colleges, would "not have the central place on the campus" if the University of Maryland annexes the three schools.

The superintendents said they support recommendations of a 1955 State Commission to Study the Needs of Higher Education in Maryland. That commission suggested expansion of present college facilities and the establishment of junior colleges under the supervision of the State Board of Education.

"School authorities, both private and public, apparently approved this report as a sound approach to the problem of taking care of the higher education needs of the state and have proceeded to implement its recommendations," the report said.

Further, the school administrators said they are "concerned" with:

1. The speed with which the Warfield commission's proposal is being pressed.
2. The "utter disregard" and "lack of courtesy" shown the State Board of Education, the superintendents of schools and the presidents of teachers colleges by the commission.
3. The lack of consideration for the "total need" of the state with respect to post-high school training.

The superintendents claimed the Warfield report deals only with expansion of the university, not with the total problem of higher education.

The committee report said the recommended "absorption" of the teachers colleges by the university would not give high school students the most economical access to higher education or provide an adequate supply of well-trained teachers.

"It seems to us," the report said, "that the university has enough to do in developing its own program."

The report termed the teachers colleges at Frostburg, Salisbury and Towson are "vigorous, growing institutions for which no one needs to apologize."

ers said they had previously voted for President Eisenhower. The 53 included two Republicans. Three of the 15 Nixon backers identified themselves as Democrats.

Another Drug Store Poll

In the Bethesda-Chevy Chase section where Republicans normally expect to do well, 81 persons were questioned at the door of another drug store Oct. 24.

Of these, 35 said they were for Kennedy, 25 for Nixon, 17 undecided, and 4 refused to discuss the election.

Twelve of the Kennedy backers here said they had voted for Eisenhower, 10 of them in 1956 and 2 in 1952 only.

Two of the Nixon supporters said they had previously voted Democratic in a presidential election, one of them in 1936 and the other in 1948.

Of the 35 Kennedy backers, all but one Republican and two independents said they were registered Democrats.

The 15 Nixon backers included five Democrats and one independent.

"I think it's a fair conclusion," said a top Republican official in the county when told of the survey, "to say that Kennedy rates any edge which is given at this time."

But he repeated a pre-poll conviction that Nixon and Mathias will carry the county.

"We expect an upsurge from here on out," he said, "and if you make another survey a few days before the election I think you'll find a very high percentage of the undecided will be for Nixon."

A Democratic official predicted the undecided would fall pretty evenly along party lines.

"The more these things add up," he said, "the more convinced I become that the voters will gravitate to that plateau where they vote according to their party registration."

The religious question? Leaders in both camps privately say Kennedy's Catholicism will be a factor throughout the district, though most feel its effect will be felt less in Montgomery.

A top-echelon Republican dissents from this latter view of Montgomery, but Republicans generally predict it will evolve as a smaller factor than most Democratic workers seem to fear.

The Republicans say these are some of the factors on which they are pinning their hopes.

Man Resumes Jail Sentence

Donald H. Frantz, 317 Park Street, who left the County Jail more than 11 months ago to undergo an operation at Memorial Hospital, was back at the County Jail yesterday to resume serving the final four months and 10 days of a six-month sentence he started last October 9.

Frantz was given the six-month jail sentence more than a year ago on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident involving damage to a motor vehicle. He was 40 years old at the time.

Records in the office of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein show that Frantz was hospitalized from November 17 to November 25, 1959. He later was a patient at the Newton D. Baker VA Center in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Yesterday, he was recommitted to jail by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt to serve the remainder of the six-month sentence. Magistrate Weatherholt did not hear the new charges against Frantz of disturbing the peace and being drunk and disorderly.

maturity theme of the Nixon-Henry Cabot Lodge team to traditionally conservative voters, especially in Frederick and Montgomery counties.

Previous margins and new gains over Democrats in Garrett and Allegany Counties.

New industry, like a recently opened electrical equipment plant and a truck factory in the Washington County unemployment problem.

A big lift from voters in Montgomery County, which has one of the highest per-capita incomes in the nation and has not gone Democratic in any presidential election since the start of World War II.

Mathias' aggressive campaign, and a belief that Foley has not mended his fences well enough, particularly among Allegany County labor leaders who were most hopeful because of points like these:

Democrats' Hope

The absence of an Eisenhower hero-type of candidate to upset party lines and cancel out the Democratic advantage in voter registration.

The possibility that unemployment in Allegany and Washington counties — 14 and 11 per cent of the laboring force, respectively — will offset some of the Republican strength there.

Gains made by the party in both counties in the 1958 legislative and gubernatorial elections.

Foley's advantage as an incumbent and his appealing record on such legislation as depressed-area, school construction, and government employee pay-rise bills.

Foley's opening of branch offices to serve residents in the Cumberland, Hagerstown and Rockville areas and his charge that Mathias missed 530 roll calls in the 1959 legislature. Mathias has vigorously questioned the accuracy of the charge.

Observers on both sides agree that much of the voters' silence results from an aversion to or fear of being drawn into the religious question.

Hungry Thief Enters House

The intruder who broke into the home of a local woman yesterday was apparently hungry.

He helped himself to a supply of food in the refrigerator of Mrs. Marion Day, 512 Hill Street, from whom local police received a complaint.

City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey said the dwelling has been broken into about four times during the past month while the occupant was at work.

The culprit entered the home yesterday by going through an unlocked door in the basement, and then went up the steps and forced a door on the second floor.

The person used a hammer and screwdriver belonging to the woman to gain entrance, according to Detective Morrissey, who later questioned a couple of persons.

Police also received a complaint from a Mr. Whetzel of 24 Washington Street, who said someone took a 3-by-7-foot window screen from his back yard.

Is It Enough To Get Out The Vote?

As the November 8 election draws ever closer, Allegany County finds itself with a near-record registration of voters, thanks in large part to the efforts of several organizations to persuade people to register so that they will be able to vote. Aside from the predictable efforts of the major parties, there were several other groups in the field, urging all eligible citizens to sign up. Now that the election is less than two weeks away, the citizens who were persuaded to register will be encouraged to follow through by going to the polls on election day.

While all such efforts to get more Americans to use their franchise are commendable for their good intent, we are nevertheless led to wonder now and then about the value of it all. There's no way of proving it, but we suspect that get-out-the-vote campaigns may be failing in one of their chief aims: to produce better expression of the vox populi at the polls. This is because the efforts are good only as far as they go, and usually this is not far enough.

Writing on this subject in The New York Times Magazine October 16, Andrew Hacker makes the point that "at least half of the adult American population is not politically conscious in any meaningful way." If this is true, then why urge them to vote? Is their vote really any better than no vote at all? More accurately, shouldn't the emphasis be placed on helping people to develop some political consciousness, so that when they go to the polls it's because of convictions that drive them to vote for or against somebody, and not merely because they've been told time and again that voting is a duty?

None of this is said to detract from the conscientious efforts of the various get-out-the-vote campaigners. They have done a good job and are doing their best to perform a valuable public service. The point is that there is an even bigger job to be done, and it has not so far received enough attention.

Meanwhile, for those who have been or will be talked into going to the polls but who haven't bothered to follow the campaign, there's still a little time left. Those who will vote November 8 should make the most of it.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mental Vegetation

I listened to the four great debates: I heard nothing significant, important, startling, surprising, educating, or lifting. I read the four great debates: my knowledge of the state of affairs in my country was not improved. These debates have been exercises in futility, demonstrations of mental vegetation.

Both candidates could do better. Both are educated, knowledgeable men. I feel that they both show disrespect for the intelligence of the American people; otherwise, they would have elevated the quality of their discussion. The repetition of slogans sounds more like Hitler brainwashing the German people than intelligent disputations.

For instance, as the fourth debate was taking place, the gold market of the world was going through a shattering price experience. If the price of gold continues to rise, it might become necessary to devalue the dollar. The peril of such an act could be world-wide. It could devastate the economy of the United States. It could bring on an immediate economic crisis.

Did either candidate discuss this question? No! The reporters who were asking them rather silly questions, did not ask; therefore they did not answer. Ground rules had been set up to make the debates sound stupid. As, for instance, that unbelievably naive question in the fourth debate regarding who is to be appointed Secretary of State. Why is it naive? First of all, the President conducts the foreign policy of the United States and is the only elected national official, with the Vice President, for the entire country. Secondly, it is neither customary nor politically sound in the United States to name members of a Cabinet during a campaign. These officers are not independent political personalities in this country as they are in Great Britain or France. They serve at the pleasure of the President and have to be confirmed by the Senate. They are not necessarily career men or experts and are often appointed to strengthen the President's bargaining position with Congress. No candidate who knows what he is doing would therefore name such an official prior to Election Day.

Take, for instance, Senator Kennedy's dilemma, should he be elected. He might want to appoint Chester Bowles Secretary of State, and Abraham Ribicoff Attorney General. Both come from Connecticut, a smaller state. It might not be politically sound to give such a state two Cabinet posts. Or Vice President Nixon, should he be elected, might want to appoint Thomas E. Dewey Secretary of State, and continue William P. Rogers as Attorney General. Both come from New York State. It might be inexpedient to give these two New Yorkers such high posts in the government. Such matters are finely balanced because the Cabinet often is made to be representative of all parts of the country.

Furthermore, these personalities have views of their own which may not synchronize with those of the leader of the party. After the candidate has been elected, that is another matter. He sets the direction and those who do not choose to follow have no place in the Administration.

These debates have been too formalized, too rigid. At no time did one or the other of the debaters provide documentation to prove a point. Statistics were in rough numbers. No time was used for definition of terms and therefore nothing was absolutely clear. For instance, Senator Kennedy's slogan about keeping America moving is tough. Vice President Nixon gave a few rough and ready figures to show that we are moving. Both candidates avoided the factual truth which is that this country has taken the 1929 Depression, World War II, the Korean War, the support of allies and the reconstruction of foes, the support of the United Nations and NATO, in its stride. The United States has actually done a magnificent job for mankind; it could have done only for itself.

Why does not Nixon point to the fact that it was the Roosevelt Administration which gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 of aid, sending to it entire industrial establishments; that during the Truman Administration, the United States permitted Soviet Russia to take the Japanese installation in Manchuria for which the United States did all the fighting? Why does he not discuss Teheran and Yalta and Potsdam whence come all our present troubles? Why is he silent about the protection given Communists during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations? Nixon knows the facts. Why is he silent?

Soon Time To Go One Way Or Another

Religious Issue Still Being Felt In Campaign

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON
The Chairman of the Republican National Committee, Sen. Thruston Morton, has accused the opposition of "bigotry-in-reverse," which seems to mean undue prejudice against religiously prejudiced voting.

Sen. Kennedy's brother and campaign manager, Robert Kennedy, has publicly charged that certain Republican headquarters, in Pennsylvania and California, for instance, are openly circulating anti-Catholic literature. The Republicans have indignantly denied the charge.

"Reformation Sunday," which is eleven days before election, is to be celebrated this year by an extraordinary outpouring of anti-Catholic literature. Sober newspaper stories have already reported the preparations for this special effort to promote prejudice. The nature of the financing is suggested by the recent revelation that the Texas oil millionaire, H. L. Hunt, has been paying for anti-Catholic mailings.

The foregoing items are no more than surface symptoms of what is probably the biggest underground fact in this election. It is a melancholy and unpleasant fact. But no one who has gone out into the highways and byways, ringing voters' doorbells, can doubt that it is fact. The fact is that more votes are probably being influenced by the so-called religious issue than by any of the real issues confronting the country in this year of national peril.

The hope was that the religious issue had come to a head and begun to subside early in the campaign. After the anti-Catholic foray and subsequent retreat of the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, and more especially after Sen. Kennedy's meeting with the Protestant clergymen in Texas, there were many who believed that the issue had been dealt with, and could now be expected to wither and die away.

But this reporter's just-completed foray into Minnesota showed that the contrary was the case. In a farm country, fear of Sen. Kennedy's Catholic faith loomed just as large as the farmers' bitter discontent with the present conditions. In Minneapolis, anti-Catholic sentiment held the polls for Sen. Kennedy a good ten points below the poll for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Only in Duluth, where economic issues are acute, was the religious issue truly over-shadowed.

Nor are this reporter's Minnesota findings by any means isolated phenomena. Another doorbell ringing foray into Ohio revealed the same pattern, especially in Akron. The influence of anti-Catholic feeling in the South is still being reported by all qualified observers. There is no part of the country, in truth, where anti-Catholicism is not deciding countless votes, except perhaps in the northeast and in the state of California.

The issue cuts both ways, of course. A majority of the Catholic hierarchy is pretty well known to favor Vice President Nixon. But great numbers of lay Catholics undoubtedly look with extra favor on Sen. Kennedy, because they quite properly object to the unwritten rule excluding Catholics from the Presidency.

But the surprise, to this reporter at any rate, is the prevalence of strong anti-Catholic feeling, not just in what H. L. Mencken

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ESPIONAGE — A great game of espionage, counter-espionage and counter-counter-espionage has been going on between the Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill.

It began several months ago when the House Republican Campaign Committee sent a book to all GOP aspirants to Congress giving them the suggested positions, arguments and replies to be used in discussing issues in their campaigns. The kit, marked "confidential," even contained a set of jokes with approved political points or morals.

Somehow — and they won't say how — the Democrats got hold of a few copies. They diligently took them apart, analyzed them, and inserted a complete set of Democratic rebuttals. They then distributed their own version of the book to their own Congressional candidates.

Not to be outdone, the Republicans got hold of the Democratic product, wrote in GOP rebuttals to the Democrats' rebuttals, and sent this latest version of their campaign document to their Congressional hopefuls.

And now it has all come to a halt. Democrats have gotten hold of the latest GOP document, but they're not going to try for any more re-rebuttals. They claim they can't afford to stay in the race of the political rejoinders.

A 'Good' Year For Diseases Of The Liver

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

No one knows why certain viruses selected the liver as the organ of the year, causing a 64 per cent rise in the incidence of acute hepatitis in these United States. No other disease has increased to this extent.

There are two forms of viral hepatitis. The epidemic, or infective type (IH), is transmitted via water or food that has been contaminated with the causative agent. This variety of the infection favors army camps and institutions such as orphanages and mental hospitals where cross-infections tend to occur. But epidemics are being reported from many civilian communities in most states.

The second type, serum hepatitis (SH), is a hand-me-down from the first. The virus remains alive in the blood of recovered patients for more than a year. But to cause SH, contaminated blood must be injected directly into a susceptible person. This is done in blood transfusions or through contact with inadequately cleaned needles, surgical instruments, or dental drills.

Both forms of acute hepatitis produce the same symptoms and changes in the liver. The condition resembles flu during the early stages and the candidate feels tired and achy and has no appetite.

Within a few days the skin turns yellow, suggesting liver involvement. (The tricky feature of viral hepatitis is that not all victims develop jaundice and the condition is mistaken for stomach flu.) The tissues become saturated with bile pigments, leading to itching of the skin and a metallic taste in the mouth which makes smoking unenjoyable. The enlarged liver may hurt and pain is aggravated by activity.

Complete recovery can be expected in healthy children and young adults. Older individuals who are malnourished or have pre-existing liver disturbances are most likely to have a rough time. The outcome varies considerably. Bed rest is the best treatment and the liver is spared by eating a nutritious diet and avoiding alcohol, barbiturates, and other medications.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on viral hepatitis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

A mean, underhanded mail-order specialist is taking cruel advantage of male tourists. He runs a regular ad in an English-language Paris daily offering, "Nus! Most tourists know that "nus" means "nudes" — in fact, it's one of the first French words many of them learn — so they hasten to send in for the "stunning" photographs. What they get back is a series of travel pictures taken in the village of Nus on the River Loire.

"I certainly do," said Borge.

Howard Hughes Loaned $205,000 To Nixon's Brother In Secret Deal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A "backfire" newspaper story may have touched off the biggest conflict-of-interest revelation in the family of Richard M. Nixon.

"A backfire" news story is like a backfire to stop a prairie fire, for the purpose of stopping another news story from spreading. And this week Peter Edson, ace reporter of the Scripps-Howard publishing empire, wrote a story about a $205,000 loan received by Don Nixon, the Vice President's brother, which several other newspapermen, including this one, had been digging into but hesitated to write.

They hesitated chiefly because it was late in the election campaign and any revelation regarding another conflict-of-interest case involving Mr. Nixon was certain to bring charges of "smear."

However, now that Nixon's personal campaign manager, Robert N. Finch, has come out with a completely distorted version of the facts, the public is entitled to know all of them.

They boil down to this: Four years after Nixon had given his famous TV explanation of the $18,000 expense fund to American voters and flown across the continent to receive his "clean as a hound's tooth" blessing from General Eisenhower, his family received a much bigger financial benefit from the Hughes Tool

Co., wholly owned by Howard Hughes, owner of Trans World Airlines, RKO pictures, and one of the wealthiest men in the world.

Hughes' Problems Improved

The distorted version of the facts which Mr. Finch gave Pete Edson, for the purpose of "getting the story into the open and ending the gossip," said that the $205,000 loan was advanced by Frank Waters, whose wife had gone to school with Mrs. Donald Nixon.

But what Nixon's personal campaign manager failed to mention was that Waters had been long-time attorney for Howard Hughes, and is very close to Nixon. The Vice President had Waters' brother appointed U. S. Attorney in Southern California, and traveled with Nixon on his Presidential campaign trip early this year. Furthermore, when Waters advanced $205,000 to Don Nixon he was actually acting for Hughes with the approval and knowledge of the Vice President.

What the "prairie backfire" story also failed to point out — because Howard Hughes' name was carefully omitted — was that Hughes had various important matters before the government at the time his Hughes Tool Company advanced the $205,000 to the Vice President's brother, via his mother, and that many of these problems got better treatment after the loan.

Whether the improvement was connected with the loan is not known.

But after the loan was advanced by Hughes to the Nixon family, December 10, 1956, here is what happened to some of the Hughes matters before the U. S. government:

1. A route from St. Louis to Miami was granted TWA.
2. A Justice Department civil antitrust suit against the Hughes Tool Co. was settled by a consent decree April 4, 1958.
3. TWA's far eastern route was extended to Manila, January 1957.
4. Hughes Aircraft was awarded defense contracts early in 1957 totaling around $15,000,000.
5. For 12 years, the CAB had restricted commercial transactions between Hughes Tool Co. and TWA to small routine transactions. But on December 18, 1956, eight days after the $205,000 loan was given the Vice President's family, this 12-year restriction was removed by the CAB.

Extreme Secrecy

The most interesting aspect of the Hughes loan to the Nixon family, however, was the extreme precautions taken to keep it secret.

The loan was carried on the Hughes Tool books as money received from Frank J. Waters. But on the books of Nixon's Inc., it is carried as a one-year loan from Hannah M. Nixon.

A letter of agreement was signed December 10, 1956, and never recorded, that no person was liable for repayment of the $205,000. Hannah Nixon, the Vice President's mother, put up as collateral Lot 10 on Whittier Boulevard, for which the Nixons had paid $4,000 and which was valued for tax purposes at $13,000. Its value today might be around $50,000 to $60,000.

Neither banks nor corporations, of course, loan $205,000 on real estate valued at around $60,000. On top of this, however, some interesting correspondence exists between Nixon's old law partner, Thomas Bewley, and Howard Hughes' two attorneys, Frank J. Waters and James J. Ardito, for the purpose of showing that neither Don Nixon nor Mrs. Hannah Nixon, who signed the $205,000 note, has to pay it off.

One letter, dated February 13, 1959 from Hughes' attorney, Ardito, to Nixon's old partner, Bewley, states: "With the execution of a deed by your friend's mother (Mrs. Hannah Nixon) this would now seem to close the matter, inasmuch as we know the corporation (Nixon's Inc.) is bankrupt and it was never intended that any individual would be personally responsible for the note of December 10, 1956."

The entire transaction was so secret that Howard Hughes' secretary, Miss Nadine Henley, declined to accept cashiers' checks in payment for the rental of a filling station built on the lot. Money was coming in from the Union Oil Co., which had built a filling station there, but the payments were highly embarrassing. It wasn't supposed to be known that Hughes was mixed up in the deal, but since the $205,000 loan was in default, he had to receive all revenue from Lot 10.

Dummy Owner
Finally the checks were deposited to the account of Philip Reiner, a Los Angeles accountant who has been made "dummy" owner of the original deed of trust. However, this transfer of Lot 10 on Whittier Boulevard to Reiner by Mrs. Hannah Nixon is again so secret it has never been recorded. As far as the public records are concerned, the Vice President's mother is still the owner of the piece of property on which she borrowed $205,000 from the Hughes Tool Co.

Thus, though the $205,000 has never been repaid she is still the owner of the real estate on which the loan was secured—as far as the public records are concerned. It's one of the most mysterious and complicated transactions ever executed regarding a piece of real estate.

This writer first got interested in it while in California in late 1957 and reported, December 9, 1957, that the Don Nixon Restaurants were going into bankruptcy because "it takes more than political glamor and the financial backing of some of the Vice President's political supporters to succeed in the restaurant business."

"Don Nixon," I wrote, "now owes a total of $380,905.87. This includes $137,000 to creditors, $7,168.29 to utilities, $14,000 for rent, and $222,000 in notes."

The largest note, of course, was the $205,000 owed to Howard Hughes.

Another big creditor was Certified Grocers, to which Don Nixon's Restaurants owed $70,000 in the fall of 1956. This was the initial reason for the scramble to bail out Don Nixon right after his brother's re-election as Vice President in 1956. Earlier, in September 1956, an attempt to sell shares in Don's restaurant business to the Young Republican Club of Los Angeles fell flat. The Young Republicans wouldn't buy. Don was a former butcher and grocer clerk, with a potent brother but very little know-how for the restaurant business.

So with brother Don's finances becoming desperate the Vice President asked his old friend Frank Waters, attorney for Howard Hughes, to help out.

It was quite clear even at the time the $205,000 loan was negotiated, that Don's chain of four restaurants was almost hopelessly insolvent. And two months after Hughes bailed Don out, a meeting was held February 14, 1957 in the office of Hughes' top executive, Noah Dietrich, to see what could be done further. Present were William Lasseben, a member of the Vice President's old law firm, Frank Waters, William Milnau, Richard's cousin, and treasurer of Nixon's Inc., Jack Strickland, a Hughes accountant, James J. Ardito, and Philip Reiner, another accountant, later to become dummy owner of the Nixon real estate.

Dietrich, representing Hughes, complained that the $205,000 had been spent like lightning and that Certified Grocers had not been paid. Since this was a cooperative which usually extended credit for only a week, it was feared the co-op members might cause trouble.

Call Dick

During the meeting Dietrich asked Waters to go out and call "Dick" in Washington. Waters left the room, returned later to report that he had talked to Vic Johnston, former assistant to Sen. Joe McCarthy, then a Nixon aide and director of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee.

Nixon's campaign manager, in handing out the "backfire" story to Pete Edson this week, said that Nixon had never had any part in his brother's business; that most of brother Don's deals were not even known to him until after completion.

Real fact is that the public records of the California Corporation Commission show the Vice President a stockholder in his brother's firm. Those who were in on the Hughes loan also say he was kept completely informed regarding the entire transaction. In fact one early filling-station lease signed by his mother was notarized in the Senate Office Building by William A. Ridgeley, a notary public in the Senate disbursing office.

During transactions in California, Nixon's office in Washington was referred to as "the east" or "the Eastern" Division. Philip Reiner, the dummy owner, writing to Hughes' accountant, Jack Strickland, April 24, 1957, said: "I spoke to Jim (Ardito) after speaking with you this morning and Jim asked me to notify you that the termination of the committee (to supervise Don Nixon's affairs) had been cleared with the Eastern Division."

Later Ardito wrote to Nixon's law partner, Bewley, June 18, 1957: "I am enclosing an extra copy (of a report by Reiner) with the thought that you might decide to send one on to the East."

Another interesting piece of information given out by campaign manager Finch this week in order to "get the story out in the open and clear up gossip" was that $800 a month rent from Union Oil for a filling station had been Mrs. Hannah Nixon's "main source of income" since her husband died.

Real fact is that this money, after being considered so embarrassing that the Hughes office didn't want to touch it, has been paid to the present dummy owner of the mortgage. It has not been paid to Mrs. Hannah Nixon.

The Union Oil Company, whose executive, Herbert Hoover Jr., was one of the top contributors to the Nixon $18,000 personal expense fund, had signed a contract with Don Nixon and his wife, October 17, 1956, for the erection of a filling station on Lot 10. This was taken over by Hannah Nixon on December 20, after she put up Lot 10 as collateral for the $205,000 from Hughes.

But the rental money from Union Oil's filling station has burned like hot coals in the Reiner account of the California bank, 8495 West 3rd St., Los Angeles. Unless removed quickly, it will be there for any Congressional committee that wants to investigate it.

American League Expands To 10 Teams For '61 Season

Washington To Move Its Franchise

Senators To Go To Minn.-St. Paul; Los Angeles Added

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League Wednesday voted to expand to Los Angeles and Minneapolis-St. Paul in 1961, beating the National League to the punch.

Calvin Griffith was given permission to move his Washington franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul but new owners will step in to operate a club in Washington.

Owners To Be Named
Names of the new owners in Washington and in Los Angeles will be named within three weeks. Although it was not immediately clear where the Los Angeles club would play, Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the league's expansion committee, said it probably would be in the Coliseum, sharing the football stadium with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Joe Cronin, president of the league, said another session will be held Nov. 17 "when further forward looking steps for future expansion will be considered." He said the league would expand to 12 clubs "in the near future."

Next year the league will play a 162-game schedule, each team playing 18 with each other club. Last week the National League voted to expand to 10 clubs in 1962, adding New York and Houston.

Future Additions
A Dallas-Fort Worth group, which had hoped to be voted a franchise, and possibly Toronto or Buffalo were said to be preferred for future American League additions.

To help stock the two new franchises, Webb said the player limit of each club would be cut from 25 to 23 men.

Cronin said the sale of the Kansas City franchise, expected in the next 20 or 30 days, would not affect the league's lineup. Cronin said the Athletics must remain in the league at least for the 1961 season.

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—Wheeling Downs fans will have a chance to win as much as $10,000 on a single $2 bet during the next meeting opening Monday.

The offer will be similar to the Wheeling Sweepstakes of the summer meeting. In the Sweepstakes, a bettor could pick five winners from the fourth to the eighth races. Those picking the highest number of winners split the pool.

Lavagetto Pleased By Team Switch

Senators' Manager Likes Minneapolis

ORINDA, Calif. (UPI)—Cookie Lavagetto, manager of the Washington Senators in 1960, said Wednesday he is going to "like it fine" piloting the same club at Minneapolis-St. Paul in 1961.

"I enjoyed Washington," said Lavagetto, "but I think I'm going to love playing in Minneapolis-St. Paul."

"And I think the fans there are going to like our team. We have a young bunch of up-and-coming players. And it will be wonderful playing before the big crowds we'll draw there."

Lavagetto said the team had a "good year" in Washington this season, drawing 700,000 fans while finishing fifth.

"But we'll draw many more than that in Minneapolis - St. Paul," he said. "The fans there are going to love our catcher Earl Battey, who is an up-and-coming receiver—one of the best in the league. Harmon Killebrew is young and has found a home at first base; our shortstop Zorro Versalles is a whiz, and Bob Allison in right field is a standout."

"These boys play an entertaining brand of baseball and they'll respond to the big crowds. Billy Gardner does a swell job for us at second base. The fans will get to know these fellows and love them."

Green Picked Best Lineman
Field Goal Won For Mississippi
By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The toe seems to be back in college football this fall and Al Green of Mississippi is one of those who has helped bring back the three-pointer.

Green, who plays center, booted a controversial 39-yard field goal on the last play of the game Saturday night to beat Arkansas 10-7 and keep Ole Miss unbeaten.

For this movie-type finish the 22-year-old from Hanceville, Ala., was named Wednesday as the Associated Press lineman of the week.

Actually Green won the game twice. His first effort, which he said was right between the uprights, didn't count because the officials declared that time had been called. With three seconds left Green tried again. Time ran out with the ball in the air. Officials ruled the kick good although Frank Broyles, Arkansas coach, protested bitterly.

Green, a 212-pounder, never before had kicked a field goal for Ole Miss, but his hours of practice stood him in good stead.

Wayne Harris, Arkansas line-backer, played a tremendous game against the Rebels. He drew wide support in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Two tackles — Bobby Bell of Minnesota and Bob Lyly of Texas Christian—were given high praise, too.

National Loop Won't Step Up Expansion
CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—National League President Warren Giles Wednesday said he had no intentions of stepping up expansion plans in his league to 1961, despite Wednesday's American League decision to do so.

"Any expansion job can be done better for 1962 than for 1961," Giles said. He said he did not think the American League was hasty in adding Minneapolis - St. Paul and Los Angeles, but did say waiting another year would be more practical for "anybody."

"I would rather study it and know more about it before making any further comment," Giles said.

Wyoming Leads College Teams On Defense

Replaces Former Leader, Syracuse

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wyoming, which held the Air Force to a total gain of only 145 yards last Saturday, Wednesday became the first Western team in nine years to hold the total defense leadership, replacing Syracuse, the leader in this category every week since the start of the 1959 season.

Missouri, Iowa State, Tennessee and Louisiana State were other teams taking over defense leaderships among the nation's major colleges this week, according to the NCAA Service Bureau.

They replaced Mississippi, Auburn, Dartmouth and Wisconsin in one of the biggest changes in many years.

Never before ranked among the top 10 in ground defense, unbeaten Missouri moved to the top by holding Iowa State's powerful rushing game to 105 yards, less than half the Cyclones prior per-game ground production.

Missouri is the only team in the top 10 in both ends of the scoring tables—second highest in point-making and seventh best in total defense. Wyoming, in addition to boasting the best overall defense, is fourth in total offense, while Syracuse is second and eighth, respectively, and Mississippi is eighth and fifth.

Auburn has given up slightly more passing yards per game than Iowa State, but the Tigers actually have the most frustrating air defense. Auburn opponents have completed less than one-quarter (24.1) of their aeriels, and for every one they have completed the Tigers have intercepted one—13 in each case.

LSU holds the punting leadership with a 42.3 average on 32 punts, while Tennessee has permitted its opponents the least points scored — 2.4 per game. Georgia is second in punting with a 41.8 mark, while Florida State is closest to LSU in points allowed with a 4.0 average.

Barrett Selects Charles Town, LaSalle, Keyser
Bill Barrett, United Press International sports writer at Charleston, W. Va., yesterday picked Charles Town's Panthers, LaSalle's Explorers and the Keyser Tornado to win important high school gridiron battles this weekend in the tri-state area.

Barrett, whose weekly selections of college and high school contests have produced 215 correct calls and 85 wrong picks this season, also figures Penn State's Nittany Lions are 32 points better than the struggling West Virginia University Mountaineers on Saturday.

Other college picks include Shepherd College over Concord, 12-6; Potomac State over Wesley, Conn., 14-6; Salem 12, Davis and Elkins, 0.

On the high school front his selections are Keyser 21, Petersburg 7, in a battle which will see Petersburg's unbeaten Vikings striving for their sixth win against an up-and-coming Tornado eleven; Charles Town 12, Beall High of Frostburg 0, LaSalle over Ridgeley's Blackhaws, 12-0; and Harper's Ferry's undefeated team beat Moorefield's Jackets, 12-0.

Layne's Hand Still Injured
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Bobby Layne attempted a few passes Wednesday and then shook his head.

"Nope," said the Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback. "It just won't do. This thumb still hurts and it will be a couple of more days before I'm sure I'm ready."

The blond signal caller was used only as a kicker last Sunday when the Steelers and Washington Redskins drew even at 27-27. His passing chores were taken over by Rudy Bukich.

County High School Cross Country Race Set Today

Beall Favored To Cop Event

The second annual Allegany County Cross Country Meet will be held today at the Fort Cumberland Golf Club course on Oldtown Road beginning at 4 p. m.

Allegany, Beall, and Fort Hill will enter teams in the two-mile test of strength and endurance. Each of the three squads has participated in two regular meets during the past month.

In the Beall High School meet at Frostburg's Maplehurst golf course in which Elk Garden High was the winner, Allegany finished ahead of both Fort Hill and Beall. However, in the second meet combined with the PVC, Beall High's harriers were victorious, trailed by Allegany and Fort Hill.

Despite of finishing below their two county rivals in both previous meets, Fort Hill has, perhaps, the two most outstanding individual contestants of the three schools.

Ronald Arnolt, Fort Hill freshman, won each of the 1960 tests and last week broke the previous record at the Fort Cumberland course in running the grueling race in 11 minutes and 10 seconds.

Jan Withrow, pint-sized Fort Hill runner, also has been near the top in previous meets. If the Sentinels can get strong support from their third, fourth and fifth men, Fort Hill may successfully defend its county crown which it won last year.

Beall's team appears to have the best overall balance, even though the Mountaineers do not have a record-breaking individual performer. The quintet of Jim Layman, Phil Van Newkirk, Donald Fletcher, William Livingston and Alan Kamauff all finished below 12th in last week's race which included 53 contestants.

Allegany's chief threats to replace last year's star distance man, Bill Claus, have been Richard Tosh and Jeff Humbertson. It will take an outstanding performance by other members of the Alco team, too, if the Campobello team hopes to win their first county crown in the cross country event.

Columbia St. Tops West Side, 20-19
Columbia Street edged West Side, 20-19, yesterday in a hard-fought Elementary School touch football game at Stitzer Field. The victors gained the margin of victory by converting two extra points following their three touchdowns while the West Siders could get but one extra point.

The two teams matched touchdowns in each of the last three periods following a scoreless deadlock in the first quarter. Lee Bennett tallied twice for the winners on runs of 10 and 15 yards and also tacked on one of the extra points. Jimmy Little scored the other Columbia Street six-pointer on a five-yard run and also scored an extra point.

Quarterback John Yates went over for two of the West Side scores on runs of 5 and 10 yards while George Franklin ran a kick-off back 60 yards for the other West Side touchdown. Raymond "Duke" Clegggett scored the losers' only extra tally.

The loss was the first in three games for West Side who earlier defeated Columbia Street 6-0 and East Side 7-6.

Touchdowns: Columbia Street — Lee Bennett 2 (10 and 15 yard runs); Jim Little (5, run); West Side—John Yates 2 (10 and 5 yard runs); George Franklin (60, runback of kickoff); Extra Points: Columbia Street—Bennett and Little, West Side—Clegggett.

Lightweights Added To Buffalo Card
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Two unbeaten Buffalo lightweights, Tony Labarbara and Vince Cala, were added Wednesday to the supporting card of the Nov. 12 boxing program featuring a ten-round bout between middleweights Joey Giambra and Rory Calhoun at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

Promoter Pedro Martinez announced that he would bring in top-ranking opponents for Labarbara and Cala.

Labarbara, with a string of nine victories, will be making his first appearance since last May when he suffered a fractured jaw. Cala has four wins.

Tallis May Succeed Paul At Cincinnati

Manager Of Reds Seattle Farm Club

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Cedric Tallis, who worked with many players now on the Cincinnati Reds' roster as manager of the Reds' farm club at Seattle, was rumored Wednesday as the most likely candidate to become the new Redleg general manager.

Tallis, the general manager of the Pacific Coast League team, would replace Gabe Paul, who resigned Tuesday to become general manager of the new Houston Club of the National League. Paul had been with the Reds for nine years.

Baseball writer Earl Lawson of the Cincinnati Post and Times Star said it was understood that Tallis is the leading candidate to succeed Paul.

Tallis moved the Seattle club from seventh place in 1959 to fourth place last season in his first year with the Reds organization.

The 45-year-old general manager has been in baseball 15 years, working his way up from Class D clubs.

He was formerly with the Vancouver, British Columbia team. It finished in second place for two seasons and third once under his direction.

If the Reds decide to select a man from the present front office, Paul Florence, Paul's executive assistant, was thought to be the next in line.

Stuarts Have Second Child
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The wife of Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman Dick Stuart gave birth Wednesday to a nine-pound, four-ounce boy, the couple's second child.

Attendants at St. Margaret's Hospital, where the birth occurred at 5:35 p.m. EDT, said both mother and son were "fine." The Stuarts' first child also was a boy, now 3 years old.

YMCA Cage Clinic Set Saturday

Sunday School Loop Has Two Divisions

The annual YMCA Sunday School Basketball League coaches clinic will be held Saturday at 12 o'clock at the Central YMCA with Floyd (Pete) Elliott, president of the circuit, and other cage officials conducting the session.

Rules changes and new regulations for the coming basketball season will be discussed. All Sunday School coaches and their assistants are urged to be present at the clinic. Mr. Elliott said.

The league again will operate with two divisions, the youngest teams being the National League and the older teams making up the American League. An 18-game schedule will be played with a complete round of contests in each division plus additional contests determined by the "luck of the draw" to round out the 18 games.

At the close of the 18-game schedule the top eight teams in each league will participate in a series of playoffs to determine the playoff champion.

Trophies will be awarded to the team in each division with the best record during regular season play. Individual trophies will be given to the 10 team members of the league winners. A trophy also will be awarded the playoff team winners in each league.

Deadline for team rosters, player applications and league fees will be November 10 at 7:30 p. m. when the next league meeting is scheduled at the YMCA.

The victory was the touring Giants' second in a row over the All-Stars after two opening set-backs in their 16-game goodwill series in Japan. San Francisco had scored only two runs in the three previous games.

Kansas Placed On Probation For Two Years

Ole Miss, Wyoming, N.C. State Restored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Wednesday slapped a two-year probation on the University of Kansas for illegal recruiting of basketball and football players.

Terms of the probation cover football for one year and basketball for two.

Voted off the probation list during Wednesday's meeting of the NCAA Council were Wyoming, Mississippi and North Carolina State.

The first two are restored to full rights and privileges effective Thursday after being on probation a year.

The four-year probationary period for North Carolina State will end on Nov. 13.

During the period of probation, the Kansas basketball team will not be eligible to participate in the national collegiate basketball championship or in any of the invitational basketball events which cooperate with the association.

During the first year of the probationary period, which begins immediately, the university's football team is not eligible to participate in any post season football contest or in any television programs subject to the administration of the NCAA.

Kansas is the second Big Eight club on probation. The University of Oklahoma last year went to indefinite probation and no change was made in its status during the current meeting.

Cottier's Share Reduces Amount Braves Receive

NEW YORK (AP) — Second baseman Chuck Cottier of the Milwaukee Braves was told Wednesday that he has $148,239 coming as his share of the World Series players' cut.

Cottier's name was missing from runnerup Milwaukee's list Monday. Commissioner Ford Frick's office said it was all a mistake. Cottier's name was omitted by mistake.

So Cottier gets a full share — $148,239. The other Braves get the same—slightly less than the $1,327.75 originally announced—for second place money in the National League.

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of these Saturday afternoons Notre Dame may bounce back and knock off a big one but Navy has lost too often to the Irish to let this chance go by.

So the pick here is Navy over Notre Dame for its seventh victory against 26 defeats and a tie with the Irish since they started knocking heads back in 1927. Navy is the nation's fifth ranked team. Notre Dame has dropped four out of five this season.

All the top 10 except 10th-ranked Michigan State, which plays No. 8 Ohio State, are picked to win in what should be the calmest week for the headlines since the season opened.

Around the nation:
The East
Navy over Notre Dame — no one to match Navy's Bellino.
Syracuse over Pittsburgh — Enough defense for this.

Penn State over West Virginia — No strain.

Also: Army over Miami, O. Cornell over Columbia, Harvard over Pennsylvania, Yale over Dartmouth, Princeton over Brown, Boston U. over Massachusetts, Lehigh over Bucknell, Colgate over Buffalo, Marquette over Holy Cross, Rutgers over Villanova.

The Midwest
Iowa over Kansas — No. 1 Hawkeyes roll at home.
Ohio State over Michigan State — But no mistakes allowed.
Missouri over Nebraska — Too much punch.
Minnesota over Kansas State — No contest.
Also: Purdue over Illinois, Wisconsin over Michigan, Oklahoma over Colorado, Northwestern over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Iowa State, Wichita over Dayton, Xavier over Cincinnati.

The South
Auburn over Florida — A toughie.
Mississippi over Louisiana State — LSU lacks scoring ability.
Miami over Boston College — Eagles are struggling.
Also: Georgia Tech over Duke, Tennessee over North Carolina, Kentucky over Florida State, Maryland over South Carolina, Clemson over Vanderbilt, Tulane over William & Mary, Alabama over Mississippi State, Georgia over Tulsa, Memphis State over VMI, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Wake Forest over Virginia.

The Southwest
Baylor over Texas Christian — Might be close.
Texas over Southern Methodist — Tough year for SMU.
Rice over Texas Tech — Owls rugged on defense.
Arkansas over Texas A & M — Close if Razorbacks let down.
Also: Houston over North Texas State, Texas Western over Hardin-Simmons, Mississippi Southern over Abilene Christian, Arizona State over New Mexico State, West Texas State over Arizona.

The Far West
UCLA over North Carolina State — Gabriel's passes not enough here.
Washington over Oregon — Could be a squeaker.

Concert, Parade, Dances, Soccer Game Highlight FSTC Homecoming Week

FROSTBURG — "Holidays U.S.A." is the theme of Frostburg State Teachers College 1960 Homecoming. Woody Herman and his sixteen piece orchestra will open the weekend festivities with a concert in the Compton Gymnasium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Following the concert, the Bobcat cheerleaders will lead the student body from the gymnasium to the athletic field for a pep rally. The band and marching majorettes will perform around the bonfire. The cheerleaders will lead the group in cheering and the pep rally will be climaxed by the burning in effigy of a soccer player, symbolic of American University. A snake dance of victory will take place around the bonfire.

At 10 p.m., the Woody Herman orchestra will play for two and a half hours of dancing in the Compton Gymnasium. Special 1 o'clock permission has been granted the college girls for the dance, according to Miss Cleopatra Campbell, social director. The public is invited to attend the activities of the evening. Tickets may be purchased for one dollar at Vandegrift's Music Store in Cumberland and at the T and S Cut Rate in Frostburg. These tickets will admit the holder to the concert and the dance.

The annual Homecoming parade will begin at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, weather permitting. Twenty floats depicting the "Holidays U.S.A." theme will be entered in the parade by various college clubs. Several of the campus organizations, the newspaper, yearbook and cheerleaders will have cars entered in the parade. The Homecoming Queen, Kay Branch of Hyattsville, and her court, Jane Walters, Oldtown; Patricia Harvey, Frostburg; seniors: Sally Layman, Frostburg, and Bessie Bailey, District Heights, juniors: Lynn McSpadden, Havre de Grace, and Marsha Barclay, Frostburg, sophomores: Joanne Wardman and Sandra Melby, freshmen.

The State Teachers marching band will participate in the parade. Numerous high schools will be represented by their marching bands. For the first time, the college will present the Ward K. Cole trophy for the best high school marching unit. Judges will base their decisions on the marching and formations as well as the musical ability of the bands.

Judges of the floats will be located on the Gunter Hotel platform. They are: Mayor Joseph James, Edward Ewald, William Shook, Edward Flanagan and Dr. Adam Baer of Frostburg.

The parade is to form on Park Avenue and Park Lane. It will move up Broadway to College Avenue, down College Avenue to

WOODY HERMAN

Water Street, then to Main, down Main to Bowery, up Bowery to College and return to the parking area before Lowndes Hall.

At 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, the Bobcat soccer team will meet the American University team. At present, the Bobcats have suffered two losses from Howard University and the University of Pittsburgh and have tied Fairmont State Teachers College.

The college band, under the direction of Dr. Ward Cole, will perform at half time with the majorettes accompanying them on the field.

Two dances will be held during the Homecoming festivities, one at the Frostburg National Guard Armory; the other at Claryville Inn. The time for the dances is from 8 until midnight. The alumni are urged to attend the Claryville dance, while students may attend either dance until one has reached its capacity crowd. The Claryville dance will feature the music of Peter Lukas and his band and the Army, the Metronomes. The latter played a benefit for Senator Kennedy during his recent campaign in Charleston, W. Va.

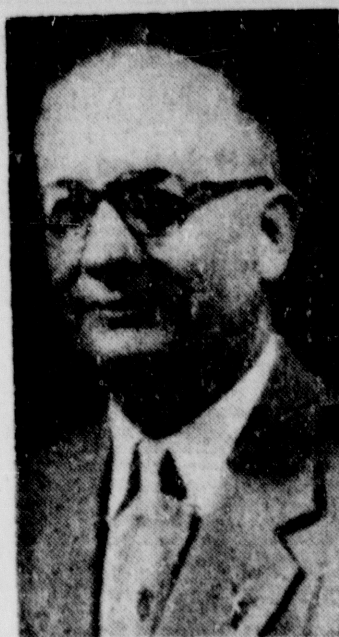

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned by the captain of the soccer squad, Ronald Young.

Chairman of the Homecoming committee, Marvin Vann, issued the following statement: "It is the desire of the student body that members of the community benefit from this program as well as the current student body and returning alumni. The parade and the game are colorful events; suitable for family entertainment. The Woody Herman concert and entertainment for all age groups."

Other members of the Homecoming committee include Donald K. Wittig, parade marshal; John Hartsock, in charge of bands; Robert Funk, in charge of floats; Harold Vance, in charge of contacting bands; Robert Brannon, decoration chairman; Thomas Howie and Geoffrey Whitmore, tables and chairs; Evelyn Walker, Joan Gisriel and Chris Ditto, pep rally; Sandra Caderette, and Woody Herman concert and dance.

Pat LaVelle, publicity; Louise Dowling, election; Lynda Forbes, the Homecoming Court; Larry Honecroft, bonfire, and Michael Todd and Gene Kidwell, doormen. The new dean of women, Dr. Alice Manicor, is advisor to the committee.

The open house, previously scheduled for Gunter Hall, will not be held, although the new Student Union Building will be open for visitors on campus all day Saturday. Students living at the Hafer Dorm, 58 West Main Street, will hold an open house at their residence from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. Saturday. Girls living at the Hafer Dorm are Barbara Blazie, Bonita Brindle, Constance Brown, Patricia Burke, Evelyn Creps, Alicia Dewees, Jean Foster, Regina Halle, Earleen Humbertson, Linda Knowles, Margaret Loftin, Jeanne Metz, Nancy Niekirk, Patricia Rice, Linda Whitesides and Rilla Whitten. Barbara Blazie is representative on the House Council.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear and loving son, Clarence Lynn Wagner, Jr., who passed away 1 year ago today, Oct. 27, 1959. You were such a dear, sweet son. With your loving smile each day. Always doing things for others. As you journeyed on your way. Days of sadness will always come to me, dear one. Hidden tears so often flow. Memories keep you always with me. Because I loved you so. If ever a dear love existed. If ever a sweet flower grew. If ever a dear soul filled its mission. On earth, dear son, it surely was you. Sadly Missed by

School Leaders Oppose Plan For Colleges

Six Superintendents Urge New Study

A six-man committee of Maryland county public school superintendents last night attacked a plan for shifting the administration of three state-supported teachers colleges to the University of Maryland.

This report, released at a meeting of the Maryland Association of Public School Superintendents, labeled the plan "discriminatory" and reaffirmed support of an alternate program for solving higher education problems.

This superintendents' committee recommends that Governor J. Millard Tawes now appoint a committee on higher education to consider the total need for the State of Maryland with respect to post-high school training. Such a committee should include representatives from all of the existing institutions of Maryland which now provide education at this level. It also should include representatives of the public school system, private education and interested laymen. It should be a continuing committee and should be granted necessary resources to make its work effective, they said.

Six Superintendents

Superintendents who composed the committee are William S. Schmidt, Prince George's County, chairman; Paul Barnhart, Charles County; William Brish, Washington County; James Busick, Dorchester County; Guy Stapleton, Baltimore County; and Charles Willis, Harford County. Superintendent Ralph R. Webster of Allegany County is president of the state association.

Under fire is a report submitted by the Warfield Commission, a group appointed by Gov. Tawes to study problems related to expansion of the University of Maryland. The study group was headed by Edwin Warfield III, a Howard County publisher.

The superintendents' report read, in part:

"We heartily disapprove of any administrative change that would transfer the control of three State teachers colleges at Towson, Salisbury and Frostburg from the Board of Education, acting as trustees, to the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland.

"We do not believe that this transfer, in and of itself, will provide more teachers for the schools of Maryland in the quantity that will be needed during the coming decade."

The report also called the commission's recommendation "discriminatory" because it leaves

Republicans Arranging For Two Rallies

Two more Republican rallies are planned tonight and tomorrow night, according to J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

Tonight's rally is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Eagles Home in Cresaptown. James M. Roby, the new register of wills, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Two local attorneys will be the speakers. Fred H. Anderson will speak in behalf of Charles McC. Mathias Jr., GOP candidate for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District. Thomas N. Berry will deliver a talk urging support for Richard M. Nixon for President and Henry Cabot Lodge for Vice President.

Tomorrow night's rally will be held at the Mt. Savage Fire Hall at 8 o'clock. Delegate Lester B. Reed will serve as master of ceremonies for the rally in his home area.

State Senator Charles M. See will be called upon to introduce Delegate Estel C. Kelley, who will advocate support for Mr. Mathias for Congress. State's Attorney James S. Getty then will speak in behalf of the Nixon-Lodge team at the top of the slate.

The Mt. Savage High School band, directed by Thomas Lewis, will play from 7:30 until 8 o'clock. These same musicians, in bipartisan spirit, played last Thursday night for the Democratic rally in Mt. Savage.

Mr. Beall emphasized that refreshments will be served at both rallies. Several more rallies are planned before the November 8 election.

Montgomery Key County; Many Voters Undecided

This is the first of an Associated Press series on the Maryland factor in the Nov. 8 election. Today's installment covers the Sixth Congressional District.

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—If you tire of hearing rival partisans predictions of victory in Maryland's Sixth Congressional District and take a little election poll of your own, you might come up with one of two conclusions:

Overseas Yule Mailings Due Nov. 1-20

November 1 to 20 has been designated for the mailing of Christmas parcels by surface transportation of members of the armed forces overseas. Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon announced yesterday.

For air mail the period is December 1 to 10, according to Mr. Conlon, who said greeting cards for the armed forces overseas should be mailed within the periods designated for parcels if they are to have a reasonable expectation of delivery prior to Christmas.

All articles should be packed in boxes of wood, metal, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard.

All fiberboard boxes should be securely wrapped in heavy paper which materially strengthens the package. Each box should be well tied with strong cord. Unless completely packed and tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed.

Sufficient cushioning material should be used to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package.

In addition to the articles normally prohibited in the mails, matches of all kinds and lighter fluid may not be mailed to overseas military addresses.

Cigarettes, other tobacco products, coffee, and various other items are prohibited in parcels addressed to some military post offices.

Addresses must be legible and complete, and should be prepared by typewriter or ink.

Term Suspended In Check Case

George C. Wooding, 53, Richmond, Va., yesterday was given a six-month suspended sentence for passing four bad checks here in April 1958.

Wooding was given a hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett who found the Virginia man guilty of the charges and sentenced him to six months on each charge.

However, Magistrate Barnett ruled the terms may run concurrently and then suspended them.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lylia said detainees have been received from Baltimore and several other places where Wooding is wanted on similar charges.

Baltimore Police are expected here today to return Wooding to Baltimore.

Payton's Plea For Clemency Is Denied

Gov. Hodges Rules Term Must Be Served

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges denied executive clemency Wednesday for Carolinas union leader Boyd E. Payton and seven others convicted of conspiring to dynamite facilities at a struck cotton mill.

Attorneys for Payton, Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America, had appealed to Hodges for clemency from long prison terms imposed in Henderson last year.

Hodges wired attorneys for the eight men: "I regret that I must inform you I cannot act favorably on the petition . . ."

Payton and the others, including two TWUA staff aides, were convicted of conspiring to dynamite installations at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills during a long and bitter strike last year. Hodges at one point ordered National Guard troops to patrol the strike scene.

Payton, 54, was sentenced to six to 10 years, as were Lawrence Gore and Charles Auslander, minor TWUA officials. Four others—Warren Walker, Johnnie Martin, Edward Abbott and Calvin Peggam, all of Henderson—were given five to seven-year terms. Malcolm Jarrell, the eighth member of the group, drew one to three years.

The State Supreme Court late Wednesday reaffirmed its decision upholding their conviction. The U. S. Supreme Court recently refused to review the case.

Adrian J. Newton, clerk of the State Supreme Court, said he would inform Vance County Superior Court Clerk Henry W. Hight of the court's decision. Hight said when he receives the court order he will give the eight men a week's notice to surrender to begin their terms.

The men have been free under bond while a battery of lawyers fought the case in the courts.

Hodges said the state paroles board at his order had studied the cases and reported "there seems to be no doubt of guilt and had arrests not been made by the State Bureau of Investigation there is every reason to believe that the dynamiting which was planned would have taken place."

The board recommended that the governor not intervene. It said "parole should be considered, as in other cases, when a sufficient amount of time has been served to make the defendants eligible for parole consideration."

'Get Out Vote' Is Project Of Local Jaycees

"Get Out The Vote" plans will be discussed this evening when members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce meet at the Jaycee office on Frederick Street.

Frederick J. Hill and John D. May, co-chairmen, will be assisted by John Snyder and Braxton Godby, who will arrange to set up a program whereby eligible voters may telephone for transportation to and from the polls.

The program will be non-partisan, according to the committee members, who are in hopes of getting out as many of the voters as possible on November 8.

Two thousand pamphlets which have been printed by the Jaycees will be distributed prior to the election in banks and business places downtown.

By reading the pamphlets voters will get a better idea of their duties in casting a ballot.

Drivers will be assigned to transport the voters to and from the polls, according to the committee, which pointed out that this service will be provided from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. in Cumberland and the LaVale area.

The telephone number voters are to call will be announced before the election.

Earlier this year the Jaycees worked along with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors in setting up registration places at a local bank and industrial plants.

Parade marshals are Arnold Robertson and Thomas Whalley. George O. Hollar is chairman of the parade.

A dance contest and games will be held immediately after the parade. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in the line of march.

All activities after the parade will be held in the block of Virginia Avenue between Second and Third streets.

Christmas Club Savings Total $615,595.02

Banks To Mail Checks Soon

Over half a million dollars in Christmas Club savings will soon be in the mail boxes of 6,547 thrifty residents of the Cumberland area who have been setting aside a little "nest egg" each week for the past year.

When a check was made of local banking and savings institutions yesterday afternoon it was learned that the overall savings total was $615,595.02.

This is a decrease of $182,084.98 from 1959 when 8,161 club members set aside $797,680. A breakdown of the savings shows that the members use the cash for Christmas purchases, savings and investment for future use, taxes, year-end bills and miscellaneous items.

The following is a 1960 report from local banking and savings institutions as compared to figures for 1959:

Liberty Trust Company, $139,312, 1,313 members—$319,000, and 2,708; First National Bank, $135,000, with 1,640—$133,000, with 1,620.

Second National Bank, $134,000, and 1,441—$137,577, and 1,530; First Federal Savings and Loan Association, $111,000, with 1,500—$113,103, with 1,542 and Cumberland Savings Bank, $96,283, and 753—$95,000, with 756.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Christmas Club plan according to Edward F. Dorset, president of Christmas Club a Corporation, who said the 1960 accumulation will amount to $1,452,770,000.

Checks for this huge sum will shortly be mailed by some 8,000 banks and savings institutions to over thirteen million Christmas Club members.

Blockage Of Crossing Explained

The Cumberland Police Department has been advised that B&O officials were concerned with getting Train No. 6 moving and overlooked notifying the Police Department during a lengthy blockage of the Baltimore Street crossing October 17.

The report was given by R. J. Cannon, division superintendent, in a letter to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

He said it is not to the B&O's liking to cause unnecessary delays to vehicular traffic and that "we have again handled this matter with our people so that those people who are aware of the crossings being blocked will promptly contact the Police Department."

Mr. Cannon assured that the B&O will do its part in cooperating with the city and asked Mr. Fleming to bring any irregularities to his attention.

Investigation was asked by the city after the crossing was blocked by a passenger train (The Columbian) from 5:58 to 6:44 a. m.

Veteran Pilot To Speak At Dinner Here

Colonel E. A. "Pete" Goff Jr., retired Air Force officer who has half a century of flying experience, will speak at the second annual pilot's banquet Saturday at the Cumberland Country Club.

The banquet, which will begin at 6 p. m., is being sponsored by the Cumberland Flying Association.

G. Wyatt Breneman, program chairman, a friend of the colonel, was instrumental in getting him as a guest speaker.

The retired officer, who as assistant to the president of Link Aviation is engaged in public relations, has had a colorful career.

In 1911 he was soaring in glider planes, and three years later was flying propelled planes. He organized an air service in 1924 at Battle Creek, Mich., and was an air mail pilot for Trans-American Airlines in the early 1930s.

During World War I he trained at Kelly Field in San Antonio, Texas, while a member of the Army's Air Service. He also served in World War II.

Local pilots are acquainted with him as a representative of the CAA from Pittsburgh.

About 100 pilots and their wives are expected to attend the banquet and hear the colonel who is president of the Early Birds, an organization of veteran pilots. He is third vice president of the OX5 Club, another organization composed of veteran flyers.

Banquet chairmen are Mrs. Bruce Dawson and Mrs. Robert K. Poling who said that interested persons who wish to attend the banquet are asked to contact them or John Nash, manager of the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford.

Admiral Advocates Interest In History

Rear Admiral Francis M. Hughes, commanding officer of the Fifth Naval District, reminded members of the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday that the United States is among a comparatively small number of the world's countries in which the common man has an opportunity to vote on the selection of his leaders.

Admiral Hughes urged parents and teachers to give added emphasis to the American ideal. He advocated increased stress upon the study of American history as one way of improving understanding among the young people.

Broadrups Get $1,500 Verdict In Court Here

Dispute Involves New Dwelling

Dr. Earl E. Broadrup and his wife, Grace N. Broadrup, came out of an Allegany County Circuit Court jury trial yesterday with a net gain of $1,500.

The Broadrups brought the suit against the Mauk Construction Company, Inc., charging that the house the firm constructed at 810 Louisiana Avenue in 1957, for about $17,000 was not built in a workmanlike manner and the contractor did not follow specifications.

In turn, the Mauk Construction Company sued the Broadrups for $239.16, which they allegedly had not paid on the contract of about $17,000 to construct the Louisiana Avenue house.

Some Confusion

There was a moment of confusion when the jury returned with its verdict after about 90 minutes of deliberation. Lyndon M. Gump, this city, foreman of the jury of 11 men and one woman, first announced that the Broadrups should receive $1,500, disregarding the $239.16 due the construction company.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who had presided at the day-long trial, then suggested that the intent of the jury was to give the Broadrups $1,739.16 and the Mauk Construction Company $239.16. The jurors then retired for about five minutes and returned with new verdicts complying with Judge Harris' suggestion.

The verdict, in effect, was a compromise between the conflicting claims of the rival attorneys. Fred H. Anderson, who with Jack I. Mullen represented the Broadrups, argued to the jury that its verdict should provide the Broadrups with the $2,500.50 which they had paid to a second contractor to repair the Louisiana Avenue house, less the $239.16 still owed the construction company.

On the other hand, James Alfred Avirett, attorney for the Mauk firm, conceded that his client should be liable for seven small items totaling $207.25 but said the Broadrups still owe his client $239.16, which would have given the Mauk firm a net verdict of $31.91.

Ten witnesses were heard during the long trial.

Mrs. Grace N. Broadrup was the first witness in behalf of her own case. She was followed to the stand by Clarence Lippel, a former attorney for the Broadrups, and Frank P. Montgomery, 114 Ridgeway Terrace, who was hired by the Broadrups to make repairs to their new house for $2,505.50.

Seven defense witnesses were called to the stand. Included were George K. Steiner, who had inspected the house before approving it for a mortgage; Charles Riley Bower, a painter who had worked on the job; Raymond E. Ogden, plasterer; John Holshey, plumber; Kenneth O. Crowe, electrical contractor; Robert L. Schubert, vice president of Burgess Inc., floor covering firm, and Presley W. Mauk, head of the Mauk Construction Company.

Mr. Montgomery was called to the stand as the lone rebuttal witness.

The jury got the case about 4 p. m., following some 45 minutes of closing argument. The verdict was returned about 5:30 p. m.

Allegheny Gets Approval For End Of Flights

Examiners Rule Against City

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Civil Aeronautics Board Examiners Wednesday recommended that authority of Allegheny Airlines to serve Hazleton, Pa., be renewed. They also recommended that Allegheny's authority to serve Wilmington, Del., be renewed but on a reduced basis.

Examiners Francis W. Brown and Raymond J. Lynch said in a joint ruling that other communities for which Allegheny has only temporary authority should be eliminated as Allegheny stops. Those communities are Cumberland and Easton-Cambridge, Md.; Dover and Georgetown-Rehoboth Beach, Del.; Lock Haven, Pa., and Asbury Park-Long Branch-Monmouth Beach, N. J.

The recommendations for elimination of service generally were based on a lack of traffic volume.

In the case of Cumberland, the examiners said, traffic has never developed to the point that might be expected of a community of that size and location.

Service, Schedules Criticized

They added that air service to Cumberland has been provided at a substantial subsidy cost. Allegheny has provided unattractive schedules and extremely unreliable service, but this situation cannot be appreciably improved under existing conditions at Cumberland Airport, the examiners said.

They said Hazleton clearly has met CAB tests that justify continued air service by Allegheny on its routes between Baltimore-Washington, Scranton-Wilkes Barre and between New York and Pittsburgh.

They agreed also that Wilmington has developed a sufficient volume of traffic to justify continued service by Allegheny on its route between Pittsburgh and Atlantic City, N. J.

Duplication Cited

The examiners said Wilmington should, however, be dropped from Allegheny's Route 7, which extends from the alternate terminals of Cleveland and Detroit to Philadelphia-Camden, since the two routes duplicate each other between Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

They said failure to reinstate Wilmington on Route 7 would not deprive Allegheny of authority to provide service to the west, since the proposed change would still permit the airline to serve Wilmington on flights to Lancaster, Harrisburg, Altoona, Johnstown and Pittsburgh.

Water Pressure May Be Curbed By Inspection

Water pressure may be low in some sections of the city Friday and Saturday while the gate house at Lake Gordon is being inspected by the Water Department announced yesterday.

James E. Twigg, chief clerk, said the low pressure should be on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. High areas in the city and high sections of the line leading from Lake Gordon are expected to be affected.

The plant must be shut down, he said, while a diver inspects the lower levels of the gate house, where the bottom, or blow-off, sluice gates have been inoperative for a number of years.

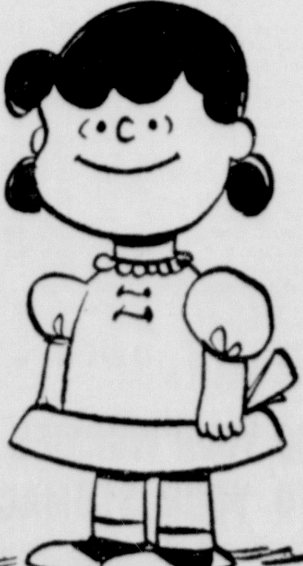

The diver and his assistant, along with William Bartles, project engineer for the Robert T. Regester engineering firm, are scheduled to arrive here Thursday to prepare for the inspection which begins Friday.

The Water Department has asked the Baltimore consulting engineering firm to prepare plans for repairing the gate house.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light has pointed out that if the blow-off gates can be placed into operation again it will be possible to drain the countless tons of sediment which have accumulated in the bottom of the reservoir.

The effect, he points out, is not only to boost the capacity of the dam by ridding it of accumulated debris, but to improve the quality of the water.
